

Uniworld has just updated our commission policy regarding suspended departures through April 23, 2020 as a result of the growing implications and global restrictions due to the coronavirus.

For bookings on cruises that have been suspended through April 23, Uniworld will protect full commissions on the original suspended bookings. In addition, a 5% commission will be paid at the time of sailing on any 2020 or 2021 rebookings made for these guests.

Regarding bookings for cruises departing after April 23, our policy remains unchanged as previously shared. Should guests request to change to a later 2020 date or receive a Future Cruise Credit (FCC), the agency will receive full commission on these rebooking/FCC, to be paid at the time of sailing of the rebooking. For bookings departing after April 23, commission will not be protected should guests choose to cancel completely, without rebooking or accepting a FCC.

As this commission information will not appear on Uniworld's consumer Travel Information page, we ask that you share our updated commission policy with your network where possible.

Should you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact me.

Best regards,
